Demographic characteristics of women from rural areas

- Average age is 39 years old
- Average life expectancy is 74 years old
- 2 out of 10 women are aged 60 and over

There are 70 elderly women to 100 women of working age (16-59 years old)

Source: NBS, population statistics, 2014

Education level of women from rural areas

Less than half of women aged 15 and over have higher, secondary specialized or secondary vocational education (46.4%)

Access of women from rural areas to health services

- About 1/5 of rural women assess their health condition as bad or very bad
- Over 1/3 of rural women refused visiting the family doctor
- They suffer almost 2 times more often than women in urban areas from chronic diseases, which need continuous treatment, as well as osteoarticular disorders, nervous system diseases, tumours
- On average, they make 3.4 visits to the doctor on annual basis

Among the reasons for giving up doctor’s consultations were:

- Insufficiency of financial means – for 1 in 4 women (23.3%)
- Lack of health insurance policy – for 1 in 10 women (10.4%)

Source: NBS, Household Budget Survey (2014) and Module on Health Protection (2012)
Poverty among women from rural areas

The most affected by poverty in rural areas are

- Elderly women (aged 65 and over) 19.4%
- Women of fertile age (aged 25-44) 16.5%
- Women whose main source of income is pension 41%
- Women without primary education 34.5%
- Women with primary and gymnasium education 21.1%
- Women as own-account workers in agriculture sector 16.9%

Employment of women from rural areas

Out of 10 employed women:

- 5 work in agriculture
- 27% work on their own account or as unpaid family workers
- 13.8% work in trade and services
- 11% works in public administration, education, health, etc.
- 1 works in industry and other activities
- 1 works in trade and services

Out of 10 employed women:

- 6 work as employees for a remuneration

This material was developed within the "Strengthening the National Statistical System" UN Project, in collaboration with the National Bureau of Statistics and with support of UNDP, UN Women, and UNECE. Data compiled by: Aurelia Spataru and Ala Negruta. Executed by: Design Agency "RT Design Studio"